4th International Exhibition of Exchange, Banking, Insurance & Privatization

IRAN

THE LAST EMERGING ECONOMY

➤ Why Iran's Economy Matters

The $400 billion economy is the second-largest in the Middle East. With a population of 78 million, for years cut off from trade with the West and its financial services, Iran is a major attraction for foreign investors.

Iran's central bank predicts expansion between 5 and 6 percent in the current financial year.

The government is targeting average annual growth of 8 percent up to 2020.

➤ The Outlook for the Iranian Economy

According to a report published by International Monetary Fund, Iran has already taken important measures to secure macroeconomic stability, including an important decline in the rate of inflation. That was done despite an episode of increased costs of trade and financial transactions, and limited access to foreign exchange assets that caused inflation to jump and the Rial to depreciate significantly. That achievement will serve Iran well as the implementation of the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action continues.

With the oil sector regaining access to export markets, with businesses and banks facing lower transaction costs as they reintegrate into global trade and financial systems, both the oil and non-oil economy will boost.

➤ IRAN Opportunities and Strengths at a Glance:

- The second largest economy in the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region
- $426 billion GDP: world ranking 29
- 4.3% increasing GDP growth
- Population of over 78m+ people and growing middle class
- An upper-middle income economy, with annual GNI per capita of around $5,780
- World's largest known natural gas reserves and the fourth largest oil reserves;
- Large domestic market
- Current account surpluses
- Large FX reserves and good (double digit) import cover
- Very low external debt obligations
- A diversified economy (including a significant manufacturing sector), all backed up by a large, youthful, well-educated and welcoming population

➤ Global Trends

- Global commercial interest in Iranian markets (including the energy sector, tourism, consumer goods, construction and automobiles) is deepening
- With rising inward investment and an improvement in the public finances, private consumption will also strengthen (as will import growth).

B2B Meetings

KISHINVEX 2017 was a unique opportunity for non-Iranian companies obtaining an accurate view of IRAN's market. In addition, for Iranian companies, it was a great platform where they could connect, share ideas, and establish the foundation for future collaborations by taking advantage of all networking opportunities available for attendees, meeting global businesses representatives and key players during the event.

Considering the fact that setting appointments can be time-consuming and sometimes expensive, setting such business appointments and meetings with industry-specific potential partners and customers can be difficult for companies that are unfamiliar with Iran's market.

kish Invex 2017 enabled companies to quickly and efficiently schedule business appointments, instead of hoping that the right person walks past their booth at the right time (and hoping that they are not already speaking to someone who is not particularly relevant). By using B2B meetings service, our exhibitors and visitors already knew which specific client/contractor/investor they will meet, when they were going to meet, and what subjects were going to be discussed.

During the kish Invex 2017 visitors from different countries all around the world, visited targeted exhibitors and delegates to discuss the pre-studied point, subjects and investment opportunities behind the VIP lounge closed doors.

Make the most of your time in KISHINVEX 2018 by booking a B2B package!

Set/book your own meetings in the VIP Lounge and have us schedule for you the customized meetings in upcoming KISHINVEX 2018. We enable you to create business meetings by choice rather than by chance.
